Why Hard Film Wax?

Check out our tutorial videos at:

<http://youtube.italwax.com/>

Hard Film wax is a new generation of hard waxes. Hard Film wax compared to hard traditional wax is more elastic, flexible, has a lower melting temperature and adheres better to hair.

Why should you choose Italwax?

- Lower temperature: Italwax melts at 107 °F, which is very close to normal body temperature, so it never burns the skin.
- Unlike any soft wax, Hard Film wax sticks only to the hair, rather than the skin. That reduces discomfort and pain during the procedure. This feature is extremely important for face waxing, where excessive skin tension can cause wrinkles to appear prematurely.
- Hard Film wax sets up quickly and speeds up the procedure, but remains elastic even after it solidifies. Its application does not break in the middle during removal.
- Hard Film wax is applied regardless of hair growth direction. The wax will remove the hair from the roots due to its extensive grip, no matter which direction it is applied.
- The elasticity of Hard Film wax can follow the body's curves and removes all the hair in delicate areas with 100% effectiveness during one application.
- Italwax Hard Film wax is applied in a very thin layer, saving wax consumption.

Why Hard Film wax only for face, bikini, underarms, and trunk area?

The hair consists of a visible part that is above the skin and a lower part that is called the follicle or the root of the hair.

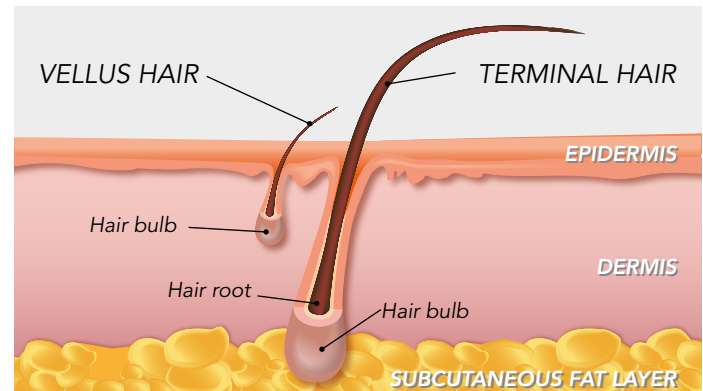

There are up to 5 million follicles capable of producing different hair on the human body. There are two main types of hair.

Most of the hair that covers the human's body are tiny and colorless. Those hairs are called Vellus and they help to regulate body temperature. The Vellus hair root is located close to the surface and has a small bulb.

The ones located in several areas like scalp, eyebrows, eyelashes, beard, underarms, trunk, and bikini are thicker, longer and pigmented and are called Terminal Hairs. The bulb of Terminal Hair is located much deeper in the skin and its bulb is much bigger compared to Vellus Hairs.

Terminal hair should be removed exclusively with Hard Film wax. The application of Hard wax forms a thin film on the skin surface and sets up in 4-10 seconds. During this time, the skin gets warmed, pores open, and the hair becomes softer and more supple. It is easier to pull the hair out with the root, without breaking it off, if the pore is open and hair muscle is relaxed. The effectiveness of the procedure is better if Hard Film wax is used in the Terminal Hair areas.

Knowledge of the structure of the hair and the stages of its growth, are necessary for professionals to correctly approach the waxing procedure and to choose the proper wax and methods for hair removal.

The waxing procedure with Italwax Hard Film wax:

1. Preheat wax to a working temperature of 104 - 113 °F.
2. Treat depilation area with the alcohol-containing pre wax lotion or gel to degrease the skin and remove residues of cosmetic products.
3. Apply a thin layer of wax with spatula regardless of hair growth direction but towards you, leaving a small "lobe" which will later be used as a grip (for underarm depilation, apply in one application).
ATTENTION - Do not rush during application, press spatula thoroughly with necessary force.
4. Wax will harden in 4-10 seconds. During this period wax will catch all hair completely (when touching and ready for removal wax should not stick to the hand).
5. Stretch the skin in direction opposite from the tear-off, remove wax with fast movement away from yourself and parallel to the skin.
6. Repeat procedure at the next section.
7. Upon completion of depilation, treat skin with soothing, cooling, oil-free product Cooling Gel or Orchid Emulsion.

Common mistakes:

- Wax stretches like caramel and is difficult to remove.
Reason: Wax didn't set up yet.
What to do: Put some talcum powder on the wax, wait 2-3 seconds and remove.
- After wax removal some hairs remain.
Reason: The wax was not applied strongly enough with the spatula so the hair didn't get adequately attached.
What to do: Apply the wax on the remaining hair. Push in wax stronger, while pressing the spatula to the area of hair removal.
- The wax does not harden.
Reason: Too thick layer of wax.
What to do: Carefully "smudge" the deposited application on a larger surface. Next time apply thinner layer of wax.
- The edges of wax application remain on the skin after removal.
Reason: Uneven application of wax.
What to do: Create an even layer of wax in the middle and on the edges.
